5th annual MUSKOKA JAM set for July 6th in Huntsville

Huntsville — The 5th annual MUSKOKA JAM, sponsored by the Huntsville Parks and Recreation Committee and by the Huntsville Musicians' Association, will take place again at the Huntsville Arena Grounds on Sunday, July 6th, from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Muskoka Jam has continued to draw large numbers of musicians as well as enthusiastic audiences in the four previous years. So many enthusiastic and talented musicians have turned out for it that it has become difficult to fit in everyone who wanted to play. And one of the most important features of a jam session is that the participants be able to cook along with the music at a leisurely pace.

In order to allow the musicians more time to get into their music, the organizers of Muskoka Jam plan to set out three different stages around the arena grounds. On each stage a different style of jazz will be featured: traditional and dixieland; mainstream and jazz rock. The audience can move around the grounds and get a sample of several different sorts of jazz, surely another first in Ontario.

The craft displays, food concessions, balloons, horse and buggy rides for the children, contribute greatly to the fairground atmosphere of Muskoka Jam. A new attraction this year will be a wine and grape juice tasting booth which representatives of Ontario Winery and Grape Growers Marketing Board plan to set up.

Muskoka Jam was conceived five years ago as a way of providing local and visiting jazz musicians with an opportunity to get together and play the kinds of music they love in the spirit of jamming and to share this experience with the community. The word has gotten around to musicians that Muskoka Jam provides an opportunity for getting together for a unique sort of afternoon. Participants and audience have come from as far away as Hamilton, Toronto and North Bay, and televised cuts of Muskoka Jam have routinely appeared on network promotions of important events in Ontario.

Plan to bring along a picnic lunch, blankets, lawn chairs and prepare for an entertaining and unique afternoon of jazz on Sunday, July 6th, at the Huntsville arena grounds. In the sad event of rain, Muskoka Jam will be held inside the arena.

Mainstream Canada

No need to complain

By W. Roger Worth

It's time to repeat a message that seems to get missed by the major media: by any measure, Canadians are among the richest people in the world, with lifestyles to match.

Amid the constant shouting over constitutional changes, the federal-provincial fights over who owns what, and the on-going debate over Quebec, people tend to miss the obvious. That's the fact that we're very well-off indeed.

Somehow, we have found a way to "accentuate the negative," a masochistic feat that makes Alice's forays in Wonderland appear normal by comparison.

Consider what's really happening in the country, from an outsider's point of view:

*While the rest of the world is searching the globe for long-term supplies of energy (at any cost), Canadians pay cut rate prices and still have the potential to be self-sufficient.

Gasoline in many European countries, for example, costs $3.50 - $4.50 per gallon, three times the price in Canada.

It's true that energy prices have gone up in Canada, but at least the products are still available.

If we lived in Japan where the country regularly imports more than 90% of energy, Canadians would have real cause for concern.

*Food, that most important of all commodities, is another area where Canada is self-sufficient. With half the world going to bed hungry, it's nice to know that bacon, eggs and toast will be available for breakfast. And the price of our food bills is among the lowest in the western world.

*High interest rates and unemployment that surpasses 900,000 are very real problems. But Canadians have developed a social welfare system that effectively protects everyone from the cradle to the grave. All this is expensive, mind you, and we pay the piper at tax time. Still, it's nice to be able to point out that no one starved to death in the country yesterday (because they couldn't afford food), or that hospital care wasn't available because it was too costly.

Somehow, we appear to lose sight of the fact that simple schoolgirls in Afghanistan are prepared to get themselves shot protesting the Russian invasion of their underdeveloped country. Or the Cambodian refugees who find it difficult finding one square meal a day, let alone three. Or even the mighty Americans, with 50 of their countrymen held to ransom in far-off Iran.

Canadians may appear to have problems, but how significant are they. Really.

OPP Operation Identification

Minden — Can you really identify your property as yours? If your TV was stolen and then recovered and placed on a table with three other sets of the make and model, you probably would not be able to pick out the set which is yours.

One way this can be done is by recording the make, model and serial numbers of all your property—lawnmowers, TV's, stereo's, outboard motors, etc.

In addition to this you could mark your property with various equipment using a code number such as your driver's licence and then identifying your own property becomes a very easy matter.

Electric engravers may be purchased or borrowed which will engrave your belongings. Some insurance agents have the Brinks Marking System pens which allow you to mark your property with an invisible ink, which becomes visible under a special ultra-violet light, one of which is located at the Minden OPP Detachment.

In cases involving the theft of property it is vital that the property can be positively identified. Marking and recording the serial numbers of all your valuable property is a critical part in the recovery of lost or stolen goods.

If you wish further information about this matter, please contact Minden OPP at 286-1431 or contact your insurance agent.

THE CREATURE CREEPS

"The Creature Creeps" premiers May 29, 30, & 31st Haliburton — "The Creature Creeps" promises to be one of the funniest performances Haliburton has seen in a long time, if last Wednesday night's dress rehearsal is anything to go by. The play, by Jack Sharkey, directed by Caryl Douglas of the Highlands little Theatre, will be staged at the Haliburton Highlands Senior Secondary School this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, curtain time at 8p.m.

This hilarious farce is lots of fun for the whole family. Set in Transylvania in the castle of the mad scientist, Baron Von Blitzen (Derek Smith), this hilarious sendup of the horror story has, as well as the eerie mad scientist, an array of other terrors, The Scientist's hunchbacked assistant (Stephen Morrin) creaking doors, an extremely grim housekeeper (Cathy Stirling) a secret laboratory screams from the depths of the cellar, disappearing villagers, an incredibly stalwart and stupid hero, he scientists' absolutely dopest daughter (Heather Scully) and so many laughs you'll lose count.

The entire cast of the play are from Haliburton County, besides the ones mentioned above, others are Bonnie Fitzgerald, Dale McConnell, Yolanda McCormack, Betty Perugino, Koni Lattner, Lynn Grahm, Sandy Willis and Glen Carter. Tickets are available for this second production from the T.D. Bank in Minden and Paulette's in Haliburton at $1.00 and $2.00 they will cost $1.50 and $2.50 at the door.

Mine statistics cover 84 years

Ontario mining statistics from 1891 until 1975 are contained in a new publication released today by Natural Resources Minister James Auld.

Mineral Policy Background Paper No. 11 is the first authentic collection of annual data on the volume and value of the province's 29 metallic minerals. Its working title is Ontario Mining Statistics A Preliminary Compendium.

"The publication, while available to the general public, should prove particularly useful to mining companies because it will assist in forecasting trends, of supply and demand," the Minister said.

He said the publication would also be a useful research tool in industry and universities.

"Revised annual data on employment, wages, energy and other costs, exploration activity and mining revenue collected by the province are included," Mr. Auld said.

"In addition, there is a chronological list of federal and provincial mining legislation."

The project was directed by Dr. Gerry Anders of the Ministry of Natural Resources and Dr. C. G. Miller of the Centre for Resource Studies at Queen's University, Kingston.

Ontario Mining Statistics may be purchased for $5.00 a copy from the Ministry's Public Service Centre, Room 1622, Whitney Block, Queen's Park, Toronto M7A 1W3. Cheque or money order should be made payable to the Treasurer of Ontario.

Beat Bobcaygeon, Lindsay Jrs.

Rockcliffe Hustlers use long ball in posting two victories

Minden — The Rockcliffe Hotel Hustlers have opened the 1980 Tri County Fastball season with two victories. With solid pitching from Jack Snell and Craig Stamp plus a potent offensive attack, The Hustlers downed Bobcaygeon last Wednesday evening in Bobcaygeon 8-2 and then travelled to Lindsay on Sunday to battle the always tough Billings Mercury Juniors and won 6-2.

On Wednesday in Bobcaygeon, the Hustlers fell behind 2-0 early in the game, mainly due to a jittery infield that made some untimely errors. However, in the fourth inning they settled down to play excellent fastball, winning with ease.

Bobcaygeon strung four singles together in the first inning to go up 1-0. John Barrieu knocking in the first run with an infield single. Barrieu upped the count to 2-0 in the third after Mike Anderson had opened he inning with a single. Barrieu doubled to score Anderson from first.

In the fourth, Bob Johnson walked for the Hustlers and one out later, Bernie Nicholls slammed a home run deep over the centre field fence to tie the game. In the fifth John Welch led off with a single and was brought home by Dave Dollo, who smashed his first homer of the season down the left field line. Bob Johnston then singled and was driven in by Dwight Sisson.

Then in the sixth, John Welch singled, Johnston singled and Sisson doubled them home. Nicholls followed with a double to score Sisson, making the final score 8-2.

Jack Snell (1-0) picked up the win, allowing 10 hits and struck out seven. Don Thibadeau (0-1) suffered the loss, yielding eight hits, struck out three and walked two.

In Lindsay on Sunday, the Hustlers reversed their first game strategy by scoring all their runs in the first three innings. In the first inning, Johnston singled, Sisson followed with another single and Nicholls and Snell doubled to make the score 2-0.

The third inning saw Nicholls lead off with his second round tripper of the season and then Stamp stepped to the plate and hit his first four-bagger of the young season. Snell then doubled, Barry Shaw struck out but reached first when the ball got by the catcher. Larry Kent then drove them both home with a single to make the final score 6-2.

Stamp (1-0) got the win while Jeff Graham (0-1) took the loss. Graham lasted two innings as Jeff Hutton was brought on in relief after the score was 5-2. Stamp gave up one run in the fifth inning to the Juniors on seven hits, fanned seven and hit one batter. The two Lindsay hurlers combined to give up six runs on 14 hits, struck out nine and walked two Hustlers.

The Hustlers are now alone in first place after their first two games and will put their undefeated record on the line tonight in heir season opener here in Minden starting at 8p.m. against Fenelon.

Ten members have agreed to form the executive for the coming year. The top four positions are being held by Elinor Hall, Elaine Blakey Elinor Gilligan and Pat Atkinson.

On Saturday May 17 the Club held a bake sale on the Bank of Commerce lawn and over $100 was realized. The club wishes to thank the mothers for their partisipation and thanks to Mr. Rome for permission to use bank property.

Our grand prize draw for $1,000.00 will be held in August at the Haliburton County Fair and the next executive meeting will be in June.

On Sports

BY JOHN DALTON

Thirty-six-year-old Arthur Ashe has quit the pro tennis tour.

But Ashe, the first American black to be rated No. 1 in world tennis, is keeping busy. For instance: he is spending more time as a TV sportscaster.

"I am excited about my future with ABC Sports," said Ashe. "I've always had commentary in the back of my mind when my tennis career was finished."

Since 1977, Ashe has been involved with ABC Sports as a commentator on tennis telecasts. Now his role with the TV network has been expanded.

The past year has been difficult for Ashe, the ex-Wimbledon and U.S. Open champion who has been a major star in world tennis since the late 1960s.

Ashe, known for his dedication to fitness, suffered a heart attack on July 31, 1979. Recovering slowly, he had another scare a few months later when he experienced palpitations. He entered a hospital in December for surgery.

Ashe doesn't enjoy talking about the quadruple bypass heart operation that forced him to retire. "I stayed in bed and did nothing for two months."

The popular tennis star got going again as fast as he could.

"I opened another tennis store in Washington, D.C., lately, called 'Arthur Ashe and Friends,'" he says. "I've been giving clinics for the executives of the companies I'm associated with. And I spent some time at the Doral Country Club, where I'm the touring pro."

A private man, Ashe says, "Some of my friends think I've been trying to do too much lately, but I feel fine. My lifestyle is to keep moving."

His wife, Jeanne, has a successful career, too — in photography.

Ashe, who was born in Richmond, Va., played his way through the juniors. An NCAA champion in 1965, he graduated with a business degree from UCLA.

He was ranked No. 1 in the world in 1968 and again in 1975.

It was in 1975 that Ashe scored his biggest triumph by beating Jimmy Connors in the finals at Wimbledon. The oddsmakers lost big on that upset.

In 1977, it appeared as if Ashe was through. He was forced to have a heel operation. And an eye injury pulled him out of competition for almost a year.

His computer ranking dropped dismally to 257th the world. But Ashe returned — in 1978, with wins that surprised everyone. He was ranked as high as No. 7 in the world in 1979. That was before the heart attack.

After the finals of the 1979 Grand Prix Masters, John McEnroe, who barely beat him in the finals, was asked if the pro-Ashe crowd was a problem.

"You go into a match against Arthur knowing the crowd will be for him," said McEnroe. "They always are."

POPULAR talk show host Phil Donahue recently won as top boss candidate. Manpower, Inc., polled its top hands—the 5 percent who have won Secretary of the Year awards—to find out for whom they'd most like to work. It was Donahue.

It doesn't really bother me because Arthur has been around a long time and people have been cheering him forever."

Now it's over. But Ashe isn't worried. He says, "I don't feel as if I've been cheated. I've had a great life, with exciting plans for the future."

PARTNERS NOW OPEN

MINDEN — "Partners" is a new concept in dining at home. It bridges the gaps between dining out, dining at home and the traditional "take out" meals. Owned and operated by Marilyn Meldrum, the store is located in the Minden Country Mall. "We offer the high quality of fine restaurant dishes, the simplicity of popping a tray in the oven and the economy of commercial packaging," said Meldrum. The products have been available only to fine restaurants until now and they buy them as you do, fully cooked and instantly frozen. Partners now offer these dishes for home use for the first time anywhere. They are convenient because once you have them in a preheated oven, you can join your family and friends until meal time. The outlet offers Veal Cordon Bleu, Chicken Cordon Bleu, Chicken Kiev, Honey dipped Fried Chicken and many other fine entrees.

Ontario and Abitibi-Price sign first Forest Management Agreement

The first of Ontario's new Forest Management Agreements was signed at Queen's Park today by Natural Resources Minister James Auld and Robert C. Gimlin, president of Abitibi-Price Inc.

The agreement means that the company takes on the responsibility for forest regeneration and tending operations for the Crown lands on which it cuts trees. The company's forest management practices are subject to approval and monitoring by the Ministry.

This particular agreement involves Iroquois Falls forest in northeastern Ontario which supplies wood for Abitibi-Price's local newsprint mill. The mill has an annual payroll of $14.5 million.

"This signing is an historic occasion," Mr. Auld said.

"It heralds the beginning of a new relationship between my Ministry and forest-based companies."

The Minister said similar forest management agreements will be made in forthcoming weeks with other pulp and paper companies in the Province. This new program for enhancing forest regeneration efforts in Ontario is the culmination of two years of negotiations between the Ministry of Natural Resources and the forest industry.

"The agreement should increase the rate of effectiveness of forest regeneration and tending operations because both harvesting and regeneration will be done by the company," the Minister said.

"Many Northern Ontario communities depend on the forest industry and will benefit from these agreements," Mr. Auld added.

Each forest management agreement is for a 20-year term, but will be reviewed at five-year intervals. If performance is satisfactory, it is then extended for another five-year term.

"The province will make payments to the company toward the cost of road building and maintenance and such roads will be open to the public for normal recreational use," Mr. Auld said.

The Ministry of Natural Resources will supply basic funding of the forest regeneration programs, and will provide tree seed and nursery planting stock.

"Where a company increases forest productivity solely at its own expense, the increase in yield will be available at reduced Crown charges," the Minister said.

Booklets describe new look for old pits and quarries

Two new publications concerning the rehabilitation of pits and quarries were released today by Natural Resources Minister James Auld.

Pit and Quarry Rehabilitation: The State of the Art in Ontario gives a general description of pit and quarry rehabilitation in the province.

The second publication, Trees and Shrubs for the Improvement and Rehabilitation of Pits and Quarries, is a preparation, planting design, planting and maintenance techniques and tree and shrub selection manual.

It was written following a study by Sarah B. Lowe of the University of Guelph Arboretum and funded by the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Mr. Auld said the latter publication's recommendations for site plantings are partly based on firsthand observations made in 1978 from a sample of 85 licensed operations.

The Pit and Quarry Rehabilitation booklet is free. However, there is a $2.00 charge for the more detailed trees and shrubs publication.

Canadian Comment

BY PETER WARD

OTTAWA (SF)— You have to go quite some distance to find somebody who is happy about what has happened to Canadian interest rates in the past few months. Maybe in the corridors of the head office of your friendly bank a few men in directors' suits can be found rubbing their hands in glee over increased profits, but your high profile banker won't admit in public that he is a happy.

Even Gerald Bouey, who calls the shots at the Bank of Canada claims he doesn't like it, however necessary the high interest medicine may be in his view.

The answer we get from Finance Minister Allan MacEachen and Mr. Bouey is that if we don't keep our interest rates stepping up with the U.S. rates, then our dollar will slide downward into oblivion and the increased cost of imports will do terrible things to inflation.

What we are really seeing in the falling value of the Canadian dollar is a diminishing of international faith in Canada's economic soundness. Let's face it, if you or I were an Arab sheik with a couple of billion to invest, we might pass Canada over as a potential recipient for our investment. Several possible reasons advance themselves for such a reluctance.

For one thing, there's a government in power which says it's going to be pretty choosy about the type of foreign investment it will accept. One of Industry, Trade, and Commerce Minister Herb Gray's priorities is a beefing up of the Foreign Investment Review Agency. FIRA hasn't made many waves in the past, but Herb Gray's track record is that of an economic nationalist.

There might also be concern in the kind of an international investor about the fact that the government of Pierre Trudeau is not likely to worry overly about increasing the federal deficit. Tight money, apparently, is for those tax payers out there paying the bills, not for government. If anybody argues with that premise, I've got a couple of dandy government expense accounts to demonstrate the fact.

Last, but probably most important, is the fact that Canadians demonstrated on Feb. 18 when they voted, that they are not willing to make sacrifices. They are not willing — at least in Ontario and Quebec — to pay their way, not while the option of mortgaging the future to pay for today's easy living is still there. Energy consumption, gasoline and diesel prices, are at the heart of that unwillingness to face facts. If we had that 18 cent per gallon extra tax on automobile fuel, the dollar would be firmer, and there wouldn't be the same upward pressure on interest rates. These things are, after all, interconnected.

Ontario incentive program for mineral exploration

Four million dollars in grants and income tax credits will benefit individuals and corporations who invest this year in provincial mineral exploration, Natural Resources Minister James Auld said today.

The cash and tax credit incentive provision was included in Ontario Treasurer Frank Miller's budget statement presented in the legislature on April 22, 1980.

Administered by the Ministry of Natural Resources, the new Ontario Mineral Exploration Program offers a 25 per cent refundable tax credit to any eligible Ontario-based company wishing to invest high risk capital. Ineligible businesses are those actively engaged in mineral production which qualifies them for other tax incentives.

Resident prospectors or investors are eligible for a 25 per cent grant based on cash spent on mineral exploration.

The tax credits and cash grants are exempt from both federal and provincial income taxes.

"The new plan is an expansion of and will replace the Mineral Exploration Assistance Program (MEAP) introduced in 1971," Mr. Auld said.

MEAP offered limited benefits for exploration in specified areas and the plan will be phased out by the end of March, 1981.

The new plan also replaces the mining exploration incentive in the Small Business Development Corporation program.

Regulations governing the implementation of the new plan will be drawn up after the legislation, Bill 50, is passed — probably during the next few months.

Government trees to cost more

As a result of the first increase in 28 years, private landowners who order forest tree seedlings from Ontario Government nurseries on or after June 1, 1980 will be charged more for them.

The old price of one cent a tree, in effect since 1952, has been raised to 2.5 cents a tree. There will be an additional charge of $10.00 per order.

In announcing the increase, Natural Resources Minister James Auld said substantial increases in production costs at the province's forest tree nurseries have necessitated the new price structure.

"It is, unfortunately, inevitable that the prices for nursery stock must rise along with many other consumer goods and services. This is the first basic price adjustment for nursery stock since charges were first introduced 28 years ago," Mr. Auld said.

He said that while the new price scale may appear to be a substantial increase, the trees for the public are still subsidized by more than 50 per cent. Ontario landowners are still assured of quality goods at a reasonable price.

Further amendments to Regulation 355 under The Forestry Act will increase minimum land area eligibility for nursery stock from 0.8 hectares (two acres) to two hectares (approximately five acres).

This change should provide incentives for the private sector nurseries to supply reforestation-sized stock for the smaller rural landowner. It would also ensure that provincially produced seedlings are used where an increased potential for wood production or significant windbreak use exists.

The amendments will also increase the minimum total per individual order to 100 trees from 50 trees and the minimum quantity of any one species to 50 from 25.

Ask Alma

Dear Alma:
In response to Gert, the sixty-eight-year-old lady who is afraid to retire, tell her not to worry. I coordinate a dynamic group of senior citizens. They are everything from stereotyped grandmas to Ph.D.'s in mathematics. They volunteer their time for community benefit through the Retired Senior Volunteer Program. RSVP has programs all over the United States, Guam and Puerto Rico. One of our purposes is to give retired people a meaningful role in society through volunteer opportunities. Chances are, there is an RSVP in her area that can match her skills with a need in her community. Her skills will never be wasted. She is definitely needed. Some jobs volunteers do cannot be put in terms of monetary value. So, please tell Gert that she is desperately needed, and she won't waste away until she goes into a nursing home. Only ten percent of the seniors in this country are in nursing homes and many of them are enrolled in and are very active members of RSVP. — Teresa Perry, Driver-Coordinator, Adams County RSVP, Adams County, Colo.
